Mayor Jackson Appoints New Cleveland Transformation Alliance Executive Director

CLEVELAND – The City of Cleveland today announced the appointment of Meghann Marnecheck as the new Executive Director of the Cleveland Transformation Alliance (CTA), a public-private partnership dedicated to growing a portfolio of quality district and charter schools in the City of Cleveland.

“Today, we remain committed to and engaged in our work,” said Mayor Frank G. Jackson. “This shared commitment is represented by the Cleveland Transformation Alliance’s ongoing efforts to create and support a better future for children throughout the City of Cleveland. As we look ahead, we welcome our new Executive Director, Meghann Marnecheck, who will lead the Transformation Alliance into its future.”

Meghann Marnecheck

Before joining CTA, Marnecheck worked as a policy advocate at the Ohio Statehouse. She also served as the Chief of Staff for the City of Parma from 2006 to 2011. Marnecheck also served as Assistant Director of Development at Cuyahoga County Public Library where she led the diversification and attraction of new funds into the Cuyahoga County Public Library system. Marnecheck earned a master’s degree in public administration from Ohio University.

In her role as Executive Director of CTA, Marnecheck will work with Mayor Jackson, Chief of Education Dr. Monyka Price, CTA’s Board of Directors and community partners to lead the organization to sustainability and sound partnerships and to advance efforts to ensure that every child in Cleveland attends a quality school, and every neighborhood has great schools from which families can choose.

The CTA recently released its 2019 Cleveland Plan Report. Click here to check it out.
